If you're like me, you've just realized you forgot to mail a Christmas present to someone who lives in another part of the country. That's where online shopping really shines, particularly when the company offers overnight delivery.

I suppose online shopping is on my mind because I've spent the past few days making yummy crab dishes -- as a result of a CrabPlace gift package someone sent me. When you live in Iowa, as I do, fresh seafood is a rare treat. (Scorecard so far? Crab Rangoon, fabulous! Crab dip, great! Crab quiche, not my fave.)

CrabPlace, which gets its fresh seafood from the Chesapeake Bay, offers several Holiday Gift packages, all under $100. Order by 2 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 22, to guarantee Christmas Eve delivery. Of course for a premium, you can send the package by UPS Next Day Air delivery. And don't forget any New Year's party needs...

wouldn't it be great to serve delicious crabcakes?

Where are you at with Christmas shopping? Is anyone out there in a panic?
